Fall 2022

A MESSAGE FROM YOUR MP

The past several weeks have been a rollercoaster of emotions for Canadians. Saskatchewanians and people around the world were shocked and saddened by the horrific attacks on James Smith Cree Nation. I thank our world-class RCMP officers for apprehending the suspect as he attempted to flee justice for days on end. We also mourned the loss of Canada's longest reigning monarch, Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II.

Many of us watched in anticipation as the Conservative Party elected its new leader. While the previous week's tragedies cast a long shadow over the event, nothing could stop the feelings of hope and excitement resonating from countless Canadians looking for change.

This fall, myself and my Conservative Colleagues will be returning to Ottawa under the leadership of Pierre Poilievre, committed to fighting for everyday Canadians.

This fall session, we will continue to hold this government to account, demand accountability, and fight for important reforms. With a lump of sadness in my throat but a heart filled with hope, I say God Save the King and God bless Canada.

Sincerely,

Member of Parliament
Moose Jaw-Lake Centre-Lanigan

TRAGEDY IN JAMES SMITH CREE NATION & WELDON

People around the world watched in horror as we learned that 10 innocents had perished and 18 more had been injured at the hands of a heartless criminal.

James Smith Cree Nation and Weldon are not far from our own riding of Moose Jaw-Lake Centre-Lanigan, so this tragedy feels very close to home.

As a tribute of solemn remembrance, we have included the names of all those victims who tragically lost their lives to these senseless violent acts.

James Smith Cree Nation | Weldon

Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth lived a lifetime of service to Canada, the United Kingdom, and the Commonwealth of Nations.

For most Canadians, Queen Elizabeth II was the only monarch we ever knew. We were inspired by her grace, compassion, intelligence, and spirit of unity.

We remember how she brought nations together, comforted us through some of history's darkest moments, and much more.

In accordance with centuries-old practice, Charles III became King at the very moment of Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II's passing. While the loss of Her Majesty will stay on our minds and hearts for years to come, for the first time in over seventy years we say:

"God Save the King!"

DRAKE MEATS: A LOCAL SUCCESS STORY

Since 1949, Drake Meats has operated as a family owned meat processor, producing sausages, hams, jerkies, burgers, and all sorts of other products in Drake, SK. I was delighted to stop by, share in their community barbeque, and learn more about their operations.

Drake Meats competes with large conglomerates, yet relies on their unique recipes, time-honoured smoking techniques, and more to earn the loyalty of consumers. They are proving that with the right team and product, Saskatchewan can compete and win on store shelves.

While Saskatchewan is one of the world's leading producers of many raw ingredients used to make food, a relatively small amount of that is turned into ready-to-eat products fit for store shelves. Much of it is actually processed in the United States, other provinces, or elsewhere.

Saskatchewan can, and should be a world-leader in food manufacturing. That's why I will continue to fight for irrigation projects to provide reliable water supplies, reforms to our immigration and temporary foreign worker programs to speed up approvals, and much more to support all food processors in Saskatchewan.

Pictured: German Chancellor Olaf Scholtz visited Canada in search of more natural gas exports for Europe. Europe is heavily reliant on Russian natural gas for power and heating.

CANADA: THE ANSWER TO GLOBAL ENERGY CONCERNS

Canada has some of the largest and richest reserves of precious natural resources like oil, natural gas, uranium, precious metals, and so much more.

Yet instead of championing Canada as a sustainable producer capable of meeting the world's needs, Prime Minister Trudeau claimed that there was no "business case" for exporting Canadian natural gas to Europe.

Canada's rule of law system, world-leading environmental sustainability and labour practices, and democratic values make us a superior business partner when compared to countries like Russia.

That's why Canada's Conservatives will continue to champion the advantages of Canadian energy as the solution to European and Global energy needs.

Congratulations to the new leader of the Conservative Party of Canada,

Pierre Poilievre!

ABOUT PIERRE

As the new leader of the Conservative Party of Canada, and potentially the next Prime Minister of Canada, Pierre Poilievre is focused on making Canada the freest and most prosperous nation on earth.

Pierre was raised in Alberta, and his parents are from Saskatchewan. He understands that Saskatchewan and Alberta feel left out of the federal conversation, and that our industries are not being properly supported.

He is somebody who has spent nearly two decades dedicated to federal politics, fighting for his principles and advocating for Canadians.

He has experience in the most senior levels of government under Prime Minister Stephen Harper, and has been a leading voice on issues like inflation, housing affordability, and improving immigration policy to support hardworking new Canadians..

Above all, Pierre deeply loves Canada and is focused on improving living standards and life prospects for all Canadians. Under Pierre's leadership, our party will advocate for a distinctly different vision for Canada's future than that of the governing NDP/Liberal coalition. Whether the next election comes this fall, next year, or in 2025, our team will be ready to deliver results for you and your family.

After nearly a decade of this Liberal government, we are long overdue for a positive change. Pierre's leadership offers hope for a future of unity, prosperity, self-reliance, and sustainability. I am excited to work with him as our new leader- Congratulations Pierre!
